

1. Approximate the power demand by a step function.
2. Estimate energy consumption from this approximation.
3. Improve the energy estimate by choosing a new step function that follows power demand more closely.